Count and Cover game
that will help
children
practice
number
recognition.

- Children will pick a card at their turn and count the dots on the card. Then they will look to see if that number is on that masjid mat and find and cover that number on the paper with a penny (or anything round). Then the parent will take a turn and do the same, and they will continue until all the cards are finished. Whoever has all the numbers covered on their masjid mat wins. (Parents will have more numbers on their masjid mat than the child's to encourage the child to win). Children get the first ten cards and the parents get the remaining. Don't forget to shuffle the cards when presenting it to them.

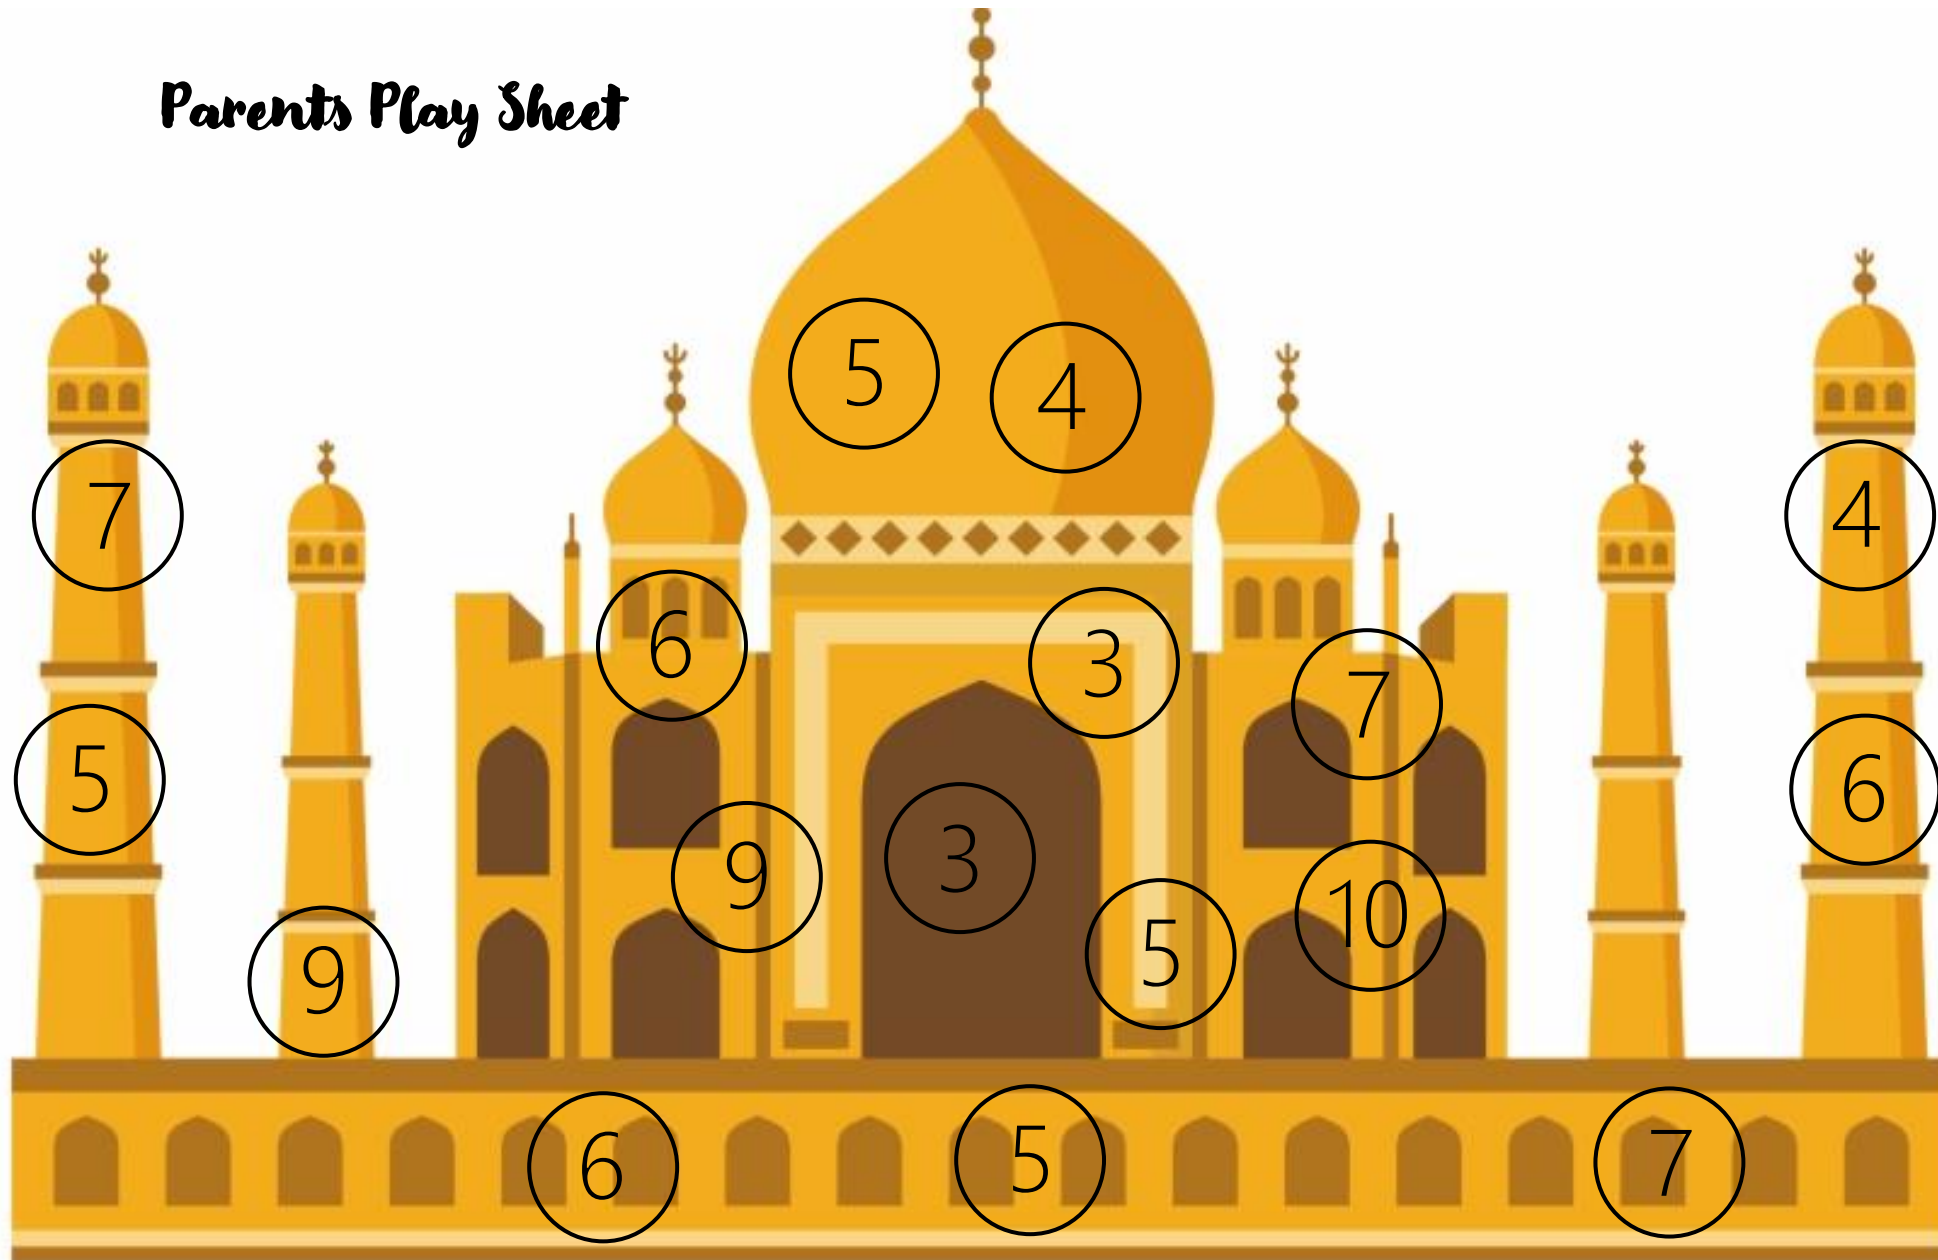

- Outcome: Children will learn to count, learn to recognize numbers, and practice addition by adding the dots together.
